CULINARY TEAM

Eric Costille Executive Chef

Hailing from Cannes on the French Riviera, just one hour from Marseille, Eric Costille combines his strong foundation in French provincial cooking with a passion for discovering Australia's ample local produce – particularly the seafood, which has been at the core of his culinary heritage. He is responsible for the overall culinary experience at Sofitel Sydney Darling Harbour.

Eric is an award-winning Chef who earned his stripes working for many of the great Michelin-starred chefs in France, including Roger Vergé, Paul Bocuse and Georges Blanc, making him a passionate champion for French Art de Vivre. From France, he moved on to Asia where he notched up considerable fine dining experience working with leading five-star hospitality brands.

Jordan Hajek

Chef de Cuisine

Jordan Hajek brings a strong restaurant background to his role as Chef de Cuisine. Growing up in a “foodie” family in Sydney’s leafy southern suburbs, Jordan began his culinary career working at renowned fine dining establishments, such as Level 41 and est. in Sydney, before spending three years in Melbourne.

After a rigorous process, he landed a coveted role at René Redzepi’s famed Michelin-starred restaurant, Noma, in Copenhagen, voted four times #1 best restaurant in the world at the renowned World’s 50 Best Restaurants awards.

Jordan says of his time there: “Working at Noma was a life-changing experience. I had always dreamed of working with the best chef, at the best restaurant in the world, so I could one day be the best at what I do.”

Puti Firmansyah

Executive Pastry Chef

Puti Firmansyah is responsible for all pastry and dessert creation at Sofitel Sydney Darling Harbour.

Born and raised in Indonesia, Puti brings a fusion of Indonesian, Dutch, French and Australian influences to her diverse and eclectic culinary approach, with many dishes inspired by her mother and grandmother and recipes passed down through generations.

Puti has over a decade of experience in the baking and dessert industry. She began her career at the Shangri La Rasa Sentosa Resort in Singapore, then worked with some of Asia’s most credible bakeries and hotels before making her way to Australian shores, working for hospitality groups such as Star Casino and Merivale.
